Kohl Children's Museum in Glenview annually serves more than 315,000 families with young children featuring hands-on, interactive early childhood educational programming. Focused on children between birth - eight years old, Museum experiences promote STEAM-based learning (Science, Technology, Engineering, the Arts and Math) while creating an environment that facilitates cooperation, creativity and learning through play.

Chip In for Children is an annual fundraising golf outing that attracts 120 competitive golfers who support education initiatives at Kohl Children's Museum. The private Glen View Club provides exclusive access for the day where golfers play their own ball. The Chip In for Children outing serves as an ideal backdrop for entertaining clients, networking and enjoying exceptional golf while benefiting the Museum and the children who learn there.
